in this book eric havelock presents a challenging account of the development of the idea of justice in early greece and particularly of the way justice changed as greek oral tradition gradually gave way to the written word in a literate society he begins by examining the educational functions of poets in preliterate greece showing how they conserved and transmitted the traditions of society a thesis adumbrated in his earlier book preface to plato homer he demonstrates has much to say about justice but since that idea is nowhere in the epics directly stated or expressed it must be deduced from the speech and actions of the characters havelock s careful reading of the iliad and the odyssey is original and revealing it sheds light both on homeric notions of justice and on the archaic greek society depicted in the poems as havelock continues his inquiry from hesiod to aeschylus his findings become more complex the oral greek world shades into a literate one words lose some kinds of meanings gain others and steadily become more suited to the conceptualization that plato strove for and achieved this evolution of language itself havelock shows was one of the principal accomplishments of the greek world lucidly written and forcefully argued this book is a major contribution to our knowledge of ancient greece its politics philosophy and literature from homer to plato genetics more than any other biological approach can explain why some people experience more pain than others and receive less benefit from existing analgesics sixteen scholarly articles from international contributors describe the application of genetic techniques to the problem of pain and consider the knowledge that has so far resulted three themed sections review the techniques that are allowing the study of pain mechanisms at the genetic level describe the progress being made in lab animals and humans in identifying the genes responsible for individual differences and explore the practical and ethical issues that face pain researchers the editor is associated with the centre for research on pain mcgill u montreal annotation 2004 book news inc portland or booknews com genetics from genes to genomes is a cutting edge introductory genetics text authored by an unparalleled author team including nobel prize winner leland hartwell the third edition continues to build upon the integration of mendelian and molecular principles providing students with the links between early genetics understanding and the new molecular discoveries that have changed the way the field of genetics is viewed the encyclopedia of crime justice not only discusses many different kinds of crime from perjury to terrorism but also looks at law enforcement legal procedures and penalties and the social causes and wide ranging impact of crimes on society the articles reflect issues dominating the news and entertainment media topics that are frequently discussed or assigned in both high school and college curricula what is perjury how do copyright laws pertain to the internet can a juvenile be tried as an adult for murder in 250 a z entries these interdisciplinary articles deal with the sociology psychology history and economics of crime life is a gift that includes powers to be used and celebrated but that doesn't necessarily justify the use of every new power that comes along a christian response to the new genetics appeals to both secular and religious readers in the center of the great debate over our new genetic powers these essays affirm many traditional christian perspectives and virtues while also introducing new insights the authors explore a broad range of topics including genetic testing gene transfer genetic manipulation patenting health insurance and the moral status of embryos they conclude it is naïve to either outright reject or wholeheartedly embrace the new genetic powers in fact sometimes the best we can expect is to learn how to cope with moral uncertainty a christian response to the new genetics originated with initiatives of the episcopal church but the book is neither an official statement of episcopal theological ethics nor a parochial lamentation
