this exciting new interpretation of pauls letter to the romans approaches pauls most famous letter from one of the newest scholarly positions within pauline studies the radical new perspective on paul also known as paul within judaism as a point of departure the author takes pauls self designation in 11 13 as apostle to the gentiles as so determining for pauls mission that the audience of the letter is perceived to be exclusively gentile the study finds confirmation of this reading strategy in the letters construction of the interlocutor from chapter 2 onwards even in 2 17 where paul describes the interlocutor as someone who calls himself a jew it requests to perceive this person as a gentile who presents himself as a jew and not an ethnic jew if the interlocutor is perceived in this way throughout the letter the dialogue between paul and the interlocutor can be perceived as a continuous unified and developing dialogue in this way this interpretation of romans sketches out a position against a more disparate and fragmentary interpretation of romans
