this book portrays the world history in an entirely new landscape which highlights the pace of development of all the major civilizations of the world since the dawn of human history mans rational behavior compelled him to search and innovate new things in order to emerge victorious in his struggle for existence and in the process he elevated human civilization but different civilizations developed on different lines some were fast initially but later turned static and some were static initially but later gained momentum to become world leaders while some were in between the author has broadly categorizes all the world civilizations into seven segments and demonstrated their behavior of development graphically indian civilization has been evaluated as initially glorious and highly developed but later it turned static due to several inherent factors anglo saxon civilization has been adjudged as initially primitive and after ad 1000 it began to move slowly and later gained pace to become world leader it has been suggested in the book that indians should learn from the anglo saxons and should follow their road to development which has been heavily propitiated with scientific and technological innovations and rational thinking since ad 1000 the spice route is one of history s greatest anomalies shrouded in mystery it existed long before anyone knew of its extent or configuration spices came from lands unseen possibly uninhabitable and almost by definition unattainable that was what made them so desirable yet more livelihoods depended on this pungent traffic more nations participated in it more wars were fought for it and more discoveries resulted from it than from any other global exchange epic in scope marvelously detailed laced with drama the spice route spans three millennia and circles the world to chronicle the history of the spice trade with the aid of ancient geographies travelers accounts mariners handbooks and ships logs john keay tells of ancient egyptians who pioneered maritime trade to fetch the incense of arabia graeco roman navigators who found their way to india for pepper and ginger columbus who sailed west for spices de gama who sailed east for them and magellan who sailed across the pacific on the exact same quest a veritable spice race evolved as the west vied for control of the spice producing islands stripping them of their innocence and the spice trade of its mystique this enthralling saga progressing from the voyages of the ancients to the blue water trade that came to prevail by the seventeenth century transports us from the dawn of history to the ends of the earth
