one of the most controversial contemporary debates on the concept of health is the clash between the views of naturalists and normativists naturalists argue that although health can be valued or disvalued the concept of health is itself objective and value free in contrast normativists argue that health is a contextual and value laden concept and that there is no possibility of a value free understanding of health this debate has fueled many of the often very acrimonious disputations arising from the claims of health disease and disability activists and charities and the public policy responses to them in responding to this debate ananth both surveys the existing literature with special focus on the work of christopher boorse and argues that a naturalistic concept of health drawing on evolutionary considerations associated with biological function homeostasis and species design is defensible without jettisoning norms in their entirety most historians rely principally on written sources yet there are other traces of the past available to historians the material things that people have chosen made and used this book examines how material culture can enhance historians understanding of the past both worldwide and across time the successful use of material culture in history depends on treating material things of many kinds not as illustrations but as primary evidence each kind of material thing and there are many requires the application of interpretive skills appropriate to it these skills overlap with those acquired by scholars in disciplines that may abut history but are often relatively unfamiliar to historians including anthropology archaeology and art history creative historians can adapt and apply the same skills they honed while studying more traditional text based documents even as they borrow methods from these fields they can think through familiar historical problems in new ways they can also deploy material culture to discover the pasts of constituencies who have left few or no traces in written records the authors of this volume contribute case studies arranged thematically in six sections that respectively address the relationship of history and material culture to cognition technology the symbolic social distinction and memory they range across time and space from paleolithic to punk the most neglected sector of kant s critical philosophy is his collec tion of remarks about biological phenomena in the second part of the critique of judgment the critique of teleological judgment the reasons for this are numerous but since in kant everything comes in threes a three fold collection will suffice the critique of teleological judgment itself is one reason more than most of his writings this segment of the critical corpus suffers from what can most charitably be termed mistakes of exposition in this part of the third critique it is commonplace to find sub arguments in kant s general position somewhere other than their logical niche the result is that the general theme behind his remarks about living phenomena is obscured this difficulty has done much to discourage even the most enthusiastic of kant admirers from investing their time on this work secondly in this century until very recently there has been little interest in philosophical questions about biology twenty one out of thirty one sections of the critique of teleological judgment sections 61 and 63 83 deal either directly or indirectly with issues of interest in the philosophy of biology finally the critique of teleological judgment has been placed among the last on that list of writings thought to formulate kant s critical system this is not merely because of its temporal position christopher berry dee criminologist and bestselling author of books about the serial killers aileen wuornos and joanne dennehy turns his uncompromising gaze upon women who not only kill but kill repeatedly because female murderers and especially serial murderers are so rare compared with their male counterparts this new study will surprise as well as shock particularly in the cases of women like beverley allitt who kill children and janie lou gibbs who killed her three sons and a grandson as well as her husband here too are women who kill under the influence of their male partners such as myra hindley and rosemary west and whose lack of remorse for their actions is nothing short of chilling but the author also turns his forensic gaze on female killers who were themselves victims like aileen wuornos whose killing spree for which she was executed can be traced directly to her treatment at the hands of men christopher berry dee has no equal as the author of hard hitting studies of the killers who often walk among us undetected for many years and who in so many cases seem to be acting entirely against their natures christopher berry dee is the man who talks to serial killers he has penetrated their minds and gained their trust to produce one stomach churningly compulsive selection of tales already and his unique collection of audiotape and videotape interviews has been collated into another disturbing book not only does he describe the circumstances of his meeting with some of the world s most evil men he also reproduces verbatim their very words as they describe their crimes this book is a fascinating glimpse into the world s worst of the worst and will be required reading for anyone interested in the inner workings of the sickest minds as well as for fans of berry dee s work
