please note this is a companion version not the original book sample book insights 1 there are many types of narcissists some are overt some are covert and some are somatic the difference between these types is the overt narcissist is the type of person who openly shows their attributes while the covert narcissist hides their dark attributes because they want people to like them 2 covert narcissists have shorter marriages and romantic relationships they are often pastors spiritual leaders therapists and heads of non profit organizations they know how to play people and they thrive off the attention of others 3 covert narcissists are likable on the outside world they appear to be giving humble and kind they have well paying careers and are not outwardly aggressive they are often successful and charming however their destructive traits only become apparent when they are alone with you 4 when you first begin to realize that a person you have loved and fully believed loved you is a covert narcissist it is difficult to believe because you have seen them in such a different light for so long it is a struggle for your brain to reconcile the two personalities still struggling from the effects of dating a narcissist do the following symptoms sound familiar mood swings sleeplessness extreme weight loss or weight gain uncharacteristic jealousy insecurity feeling like you don't know the difference between right and wrong extreme paranoia being turned into an obsessive detective endless repetitive obsessive thinking about your ex constantly trying to find explanations for what has happened feelings of helplessness and despair a desire to self isolate feeling desperately misunderstood sudden inexplicable anxiety followed by rapid dips into depression the list goes on you are dealing with a narcissist and if you haven't figured it out already they will never ever change you can stay in the relationship and be unhappy or you can choose to never date a narcissist again it is not easy i know because i have been there i was you they are smart enough to know what you are looking for at the level of your core values and mold themselves to appear to represent that whilst provoking as much sympathy in you for them as they can but beneath the mask of a shy vulnerable and good person something far more sinister lurks a social chameleon who would wear a completely different identity depending on who they were talking to a sneaky underhanded way of operating in the world that only those closest to them ever get a glimpse of a person whose actions rarely match their words they seemed so good hearted and vulnerable i just wanted to help maybe my ex is right maybe it really is me am i just being paranoid nobody understands what you need now someone who has been through the same experiences you have and understands them from the inside someone who has the knowledge training education and experience working on himself and others to lead you through the emotional sh tstorm that breaking with a narcissist can create what are you waiting for grab your copy at limited time discount
