excerpt from the government of india this book was written in all its substantial parts before the government took steps to meet the conditions which the war had created in india i venture to publish it however because it indicates a different point of view from that which appears to be animating the government though in some respects their practical proposals do not materially differ from mine but also and this is the chief reason because during the time of transition upon which we are entering and which the montagu chelmsford report does no more than inaugurate it is important that we should understand the origin and evolution of our indian connections india is a going concern a problem in organic politics its needs cannot be met by an adjustment here and an adjustment there they have to be viewed in their wide sweep this spirit will have to be maintained after the montagu chelmsford report has produced its first harvest of legislation about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks.com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works policy making in food security is at a crossroads in india particularly for the rice crop whereas india has emerged as a leading rice exporter over the last two years the government has also introduced a large food subsidy program called the national food security act the program requires that 33.6 million metric tons of rice per year be distributed to the marginalized rural and urban populations of the country in this study we analyze the long term impact of india's food security act on its domestic rice market and the international market for rice we specify and apply a structural demand and supply model to india's rice market and link it with the world rice market as part of a broad partial equilibrium modeling system of international agriculture commodity markets we specifically focus on three different scenarios subsidy as a price effect subsidy as an inelastic income effect and subsidy as an elastic income effect under the broader framework of the national food security act we find that at the end of the projection period the 2024-2025 crop year as a result of the rice subsidy program the consumption of rice increases significantly by 6.831 thousand metric ton (mt) in the case of the price effect while the inelastic income effect has little on production consumption which increase by 265 thousand mt and 269 thousand mt respectively and no impact on rice export of india
