ambitious high school senior efraín rodríguez dreams of escaping the south bronx for an ivy league college like harvard or yale but how is his family going to afford to pay for a prestigious university when moms has to work insane hours to put food on the table as it is and efraín wouldn't dare ask that good for nothing father of his who has traded his family in for younger models left with few options efraín chooses to do something he never thought he would he embarks on a double life honor student by day drug peddler at night convinced that by temporarily capitulating to society's negative expectations of a boy like him he can eventually defy them sofia quintero makes a stunning debut writing for young adults with this gritty complex and real exploration of the life of an urban teen whose attempt to leave one world behind for a better one could cost him everything between 1982 and 1983 in the name of anti communism the military government of guatemala prosecuted a scorched earth campaign of terror against largely mayan rural communities under the leadership of general efraín ríos montt tens of thousands of people perished in what is now known as la violencia or the mayan holocaust ríos montt guatemala's president by coup was and is an outspokenly born again pentecostal christian a fact that would seem to be at odds with the atrocities that took place on his watch virginia garrard burnett's book is the first in english to view the ríos montt era through the lens of history drawing on newly available primary sources such as guerrilla documents evangelical pamphlets speech transcripts and declassified us government records she is able to provide a fine grained picture of what happened during ríos montt's rule looking back over guatemalan history between 1954 and the late 1970s she finds that three decades of war engendered an ideology of violence that cut across class cultures communities religions and even families many guatemalans converted to pentecostalism during this period she says because of the affinity between these churches apocalyptic message and the violence of their everyday reality examining the role of outside players and observers the us government evangelical groups and the media she contends that self interest willful ignorance and distraction permitted the human rights tragedies within guatemala to take place without challenge from the outside world blending normative public theology and empirical political science nilay saiyā formulates and applies an ethic of jesus to the realm of global politics rejecting conventional theories he makes the argument that the ethic of jesus calls for the church to avoid seeking special favor with the state even as it strives to engage with and uplift the world around it through its prophetic witness using global data and case studies the global politics of jesus examines the paradox of privilege with respect to some of the most important areas in contemporary global politics violence and persecution human rights foreign policy and peace and reconciliation and considers its implications for the church itself the use of airpower in wartime calls to mind the massive bombings of world war ii but airplanes have long been instrumental in small wars as well ever since its use by the french to put down rebellious moroccan tribes in 1913 airpower has been employed to fight in limited but often lengthy small conflicts around the globe this is the first comprehensive history of airpower in small wars conflicts pitting states against non state groups such as insurgents bandits factions and terrorists tracing it from the early years of the twentieth century to the present day it examines dozens of conflicts with strikingly different scenarios the greek civil war the philippine anti huk campaign french and british colonial wars the war in south vietnam before the american escalation counterinsurgency in southern africa latin american counter guerrilla operations and counterinsurgency and counterterrorist campaigns in the middle east over the last four decades for each war the authors describe the strategies employed on both sides of the conflict the air forces engaged and the specific airpower tactics employed they discuss the ground campaigns and provide the political background necessary to understand the air campaigns and in each case they judge the utility of airpower in its broadest sense in their historic sweep they show how forms of airpower evolved from planes to police helicopters aircraft of the civilian air reserve and today s unmanned aircraft they also disclose how small wars after world war ii required new strategies operational solutions and tactics by taking this broad view of small war airpower the authors are able to make assessments about the most effective and least effective means of employing airpower they offer specific conclusions ranging from the importance of comprehensive strategy to the need for the united states and its allies to expand small wars training programs airpower in small wars will be invaluable for educating military professionals and policy makers in the subject as well as for providing a useful framework for developing more effective doctrine for employing airpower in the conflicts we are most likely to see in the twenty first century in 1988 the world university service formulated the lima declaration on academic freedom and the autonomy of institutions of higher education this seeks to promote and protect the right to education the freedom to teach and the freedom to pursue develop and transmit knowledge since then wus and zed books have published a series of reports on specific countries failures to deliver the right to education abuses of the rights of people in the educational sector generally and infringements of academic freedom and university autonomy academic freedom 4 the most recent volume in the series offers an overview of the international standards in this field and spells out the obligations of states in guaranteeing the educational rights of citizens the reports on specific countries show the wide range of obstacles standing in the way of a full realization of the right to education several chapters analyse how disinvestment in education has undermined this right particularly for women and minorities in several parts of the world structural adjustment programmes go hand in hand with stricter government control including censorship of universities while in others the control of education by religious groups has emerged as a new challenge affecting both the quality of education and the level of tolerance in society other reports show why two factors the existence of highly educated refugees and the globalization of the world economy demand a much wider international recognition of educational qualifications
