this book defends a new interpretation of hegel s theoretical philosophy according to which it has a single organizing focus giving philosophical force to his arguments in his central science of logic and undercutting prominent worries the focus is not epistemology or skepticism but the metaphysics of reason in the world of all the topics in the history of philosophy the history of different forms of thinking and contemplation is one of the most important and yet is also relatively overlooked what is it to think philosophically how did different forms of thinking reflection contemplation critique and analysis emerge in different epochs this collection offers a rich and diverse philosophical exploration of the history of contemplation from the classical period to the twenty first century it covers canonical figures including plato aristotle descartes and kant as well as debates in less well known areas such as classical indian and islamic thought and the role of speculation in twentieth century russian philosophy comprising twenty two chapters by an international team of contributors the volume is divided into five parts flourishing and thinking from homer to hume the thinking of thinking from augustine to gödel images and thinking from plotinus to unger bodies of thought and habits of thinking from plato to irigaray the efficacy of thinking from sextus to bataille thought a philosophical history is the first comprehensive investigation of the history of philosophical thought and contemplation as such it is a landmark publication for anyone researching and teaching the history of philosophy and a valuable resource for those studying the subject in related fields such as literature religion sociology and the history of ideas examines how postwar french writers constitute the thinking subject and reshape its relation to the external social world joseph acquisto analyzes the writings of three thinkers during and shortly after the second world war who address the question of what it means to think and what it means to constitute oneself as a thinking subject at a time that seems to come after everything with the ruins of attacked cities echoing the remains of a philosophical tradition that was confident in its establishment of human beings as rational of reason leading to progress and of both the self and the world as knowable what georges bataille calls inner experience and emil cioran labels thinking against oneself is something akin to a drama not a mere representation of the self in relation to the world but a process of remapping the relation of subject to object of thought dialectically acquisto argues that both writers adopt an anti systematic approach to thinking that implicates fragmentary writing as a way of turning answers about subject object relations into questions acquisto contends that this stands in contrast to the approach of clément rosset whose affirmation of the inaccessibility of the real leads to an anti intellectual grace filled affirmation of life as it is given under the guise of what he calls the tragic bringing together thinkers that have seldom been discussed in a comparative light thought as experience in bataille cioran and rosset examines the affective dimensions of thought as experience and considers the political stakes of postwar thought as out of order with the world from which it springs well known for applying mindfulness to the treatment of depression pioneering researcher john teasdale now explores the broader changes that people can experience through contemplative practices what goes on in our minds when we are mindful what does it mean to talk of mindfulness as a way of being from a scientific perspective how do core elements of contemplative traditions have their beneficial effects teasdale describes two types of knowing that human beings have evolved conceptual and holistic intuitive and shows how mindfulness can achieve a healthier balance between them he masterfully describes the mechanisms by which this shift in consciousness not only can reduce emotional suffering but also can lead to greater joy and compassion and a transformed sense of self paul addressed the book of romans to both jews and gentiles even though rome was primarily a gentile city therefore it is reasonable to conclude that most believers in the churches at rome were gentiles the reason that this was important is that the judaizers continued to infiltrate the local churches and paul was determined to stop their false message of adding law keeping to grace from taking root and to demonstrate that the gospel is for all jews and gentiles setting forth an innovative new model for what it means to be a writing teacher in the era of writing across the curriculum the end of composition studies urges a reconceptualization of graduate work in rhetoric and composition systematically critiques the limitations of current pedagogical practices at the postsecondary level and proposes a reorganization of all academic units david w smit calls into question two major assumptions of the field that writing is a universal ability and that college level writing is foundational to advanced learning instead smit holds writing involves a wide range of knowledge and skill that cannot be learned solely in writing classes but must be acquired by immersion in various discourse communities in and out of academic settings the end of composition studies provides a compelling rhetoric and rationale for eliminating the field and reenvisioning the profession as truly interdisciplinary a change that is necessary in order to fulfill the needs and demands of students instructors administrators and our democratic society the holy trinity is the oldest idea of christian hope the study of being or ontology was once regarded as a seminal preparation for the study of god as the creative cause of all being in theology yet due to a series of theological mistakes metaphysics came to be separated from the trinity before god came to be conceived as the supreme being of all beings in general metaphysics natural theology and modern ontology the analytic and continental philosophical traditions have since tended to treat the trinity as at best superfluous and at worst redundant to modern formal ontologies yet the postmodern collapse of all such formal ontologies has prepared the path for a renewed study of metaphysics or ontology that shares in participation with the trinity new trinitarian ontologies names a creative response to this pivotal collapse of modern formal ontologies if ontology cannot contain but rather more radically points to god and if all nature thus tends towards the supernatural the angelic and the metaphysical then we should renew the study of the metaphysics or ontology of the trinity this volume represents a collection of responses to this challenge of rendering ontology in a trinitarian style football clubs across the world continue to embody many of the collective symbols identifications and processes of connectivity which have long been associated with the notion of community in recent years however the very term community has become the focus of renewed interest within popular discourse and amongst academics politicians and policy makers it has become something of a buzz word wheeled out as both a lament to more certain times and as an appeal to a better future a term imbued with all the richness associated with human interaction community has also been employed increasingly within football for instrumental reasons concerned with policy and stadium redevelopment and in broader rhetoric about clubs their localities and fans this book brings together a range of key debates around contemporary understandings of community in world football split into four sections it considers political and theoretical debates around football and its connection with community different national and ethnic football communities instrumental uses of football to bridge gaps within and between groups future directions in the football and community debate this book was published as a special issue of soccer society a signal contribution to the burgeoning field of comparative philosophy of religion the dynamics of religion describes patterns of living faith in major world religions in a way which corrects misperceptions of them as archaic traditions trapped in the past packed with telling examples this book shows how religions provide meaning and guidance for their followers what the fundamental constituents of all religions are including stories symbols solutions to the mystery of evil and more and how religions are dynamic processes that constantly change and adapt over time the author concludes that truth comes not from the dogmatic retelling of any single master story but from the dynamic interplay between stories old and new what is distinctive in each tradition is not any single set of unchanging meanings but the character of the life lived the dynamics of religion is exhilarating and essential reading for anyone interested in the way religion begins structure themselves and develop through time winner of the boyer prize from the society for psychological anthropology this book explores the experience of suffering in order to shed light on the nature of the human self using an intimate life history approach it examines ways people struggle to cope with experiences that can shatter their lives a diagnosis of cancer the death of a spouse a parent s mental illness the volume takes readers deep into private worlds of suffering in american culture and invites reflection on what the subjectivity of suffering tells us about being human addressing universal themes in a way that fully recognizes the individuality of those who experience a personal crisis parish shows how individuals personalize the cultural and psychological resources in which they find their possible selves
