the may fourth movement 1915 1923 is widely considered a watershed in the history of modern china this book is a social history of cultural and political radicals based in china's most important hinterland city at this pivotal time wuhan current narratives of may fourth focus on the ideological development of intellectuals in the seaboard metropolises of beijing and shanghai and although scholars have pointed to the importance of the many cultural political societies of the period they have largely neglected to examine these associations seeing them only as seedbeds of chinese communism and its leaders like mao zedong this book by contrast portrays the everyday life of may fourth activists in wuhan in cultural political societies founded by local teacher and journalist yun daiying 1895 1931 the book examines the ways by which radical politics developed in hinterland urban centers from there into a nation wide movement which ultimately provided the basis for the emergence of mass political parties namely the nationalist party guomindang and the chinese communist party ccp the book's focus on organizations everyday life and social networks provides a novel interpretation of where mechanisms of historical change are located the book also highlights the importance of print culture in the provinces it demonstrates how provincial print culture combined with small local organizations to create a political movement the vantage point of wuhan demonstrates that may fourth radicalism developed in a dialogue between the coastal metropolises of beijing and shanghai and hinterland urban centers the book therefore charts the way in which seeds of political change grew from individuals through local organizations into a nation wide movement and finally into mass party politics and subsequently revolution the book thus connects everyday experiences of activists with the cultural political ferment which gave rise to both the chinese communist party and the nationalist party china watching is anything but being boring because chinese politics is filled with dramas almost on a daily basis in the past three years since xi jinping became general secretary of the chinese communist party the chinese political drama has unfolded with a lot of twists and turns based on a series of articles published on the diplomat this volume offers snapshots of different episodes of the political drama from december 2014 to january 2016 focusing mostly on the main character of the show president xi jinping and serving as an appetizer for those who are hungry about chinese elite politics this book provides a systematic and comparative account of the rise of new challenger parties across western europe it analyses how parties that challenge the conventional party system by addressing issues neglected by existing parties can succeed and fail systematically comparing 229 elections since 1950 across 15 european democracies including the united kingdom france germany italy the benelux and scandinavian countries this book questions why new challenger parties are more successful in some countries than others and analyses the conditions that determine their emergence and subsequent success or failure as one of the first systematic and comparative examinations of new challenger parties this book looks at both new politics parties and extreme right parties and the structures to aid their emergence at the time of an election identifying two distinctive stages of party development the author adopts a double hurdle model involving first the chances of emergence and second sustained success this framework in combination with a wide range of empirical data provides for an innovative and insightful analysis of a neglected topic new challenger parties in western europe will be of interest to students and scholars of government comparative politics and political parties following the formation of a regular army in 1784 a popular distrust of military power and the generally unsettled nature of national administration kept the army in a continual state of fluctuation both in terms of organisation and size few officers were making a long term commitment to military service but by 1860 a professional army career was becoming a way of life in that year 41.5 percent of officers had served 30 years compared to only 26 percent in 1797
