the work the allegory of the cave also known as the cave allegory or cave parable is an extremely intelligent allegory with a philosophical and pedagogical intent written by the greek philosopher plato it is found in the work the republic and aims to exemplify how human beings can free themselves from the condition of darkness that imprisons them through the light of truth it is a timeless text whose message fits perfectly into contemporary times when sectarian ideologies still permeate many societies furthermore reading the allegory of the cave allows for a beneficial reflection by rescuing and presenting important philosophical values to readers the allegory of the cave or plato s cave was presented by the greek philosopher plato in his work the republic 514a 520a to compare the effect of education πᾶσι and the lack of it on our nature it is written as a dialogue between plato s brother glaucon and his mentor socrates narrated by the latter the allegory is presented after the analogy of the sun 508b 509c and the analogy of the divided line 509d 511e all three are characterized in relation to dialectic at the end of books vii and viii 531d 534e plato has socrates describe a group of people who have lived chained to the wall of a cave all of their lives facing a blank wall the people watch shadows projected on the wall from objects passing in front of a fire behind them and give names to these shadows the shadows are the prisoners reality socrates explains how the philosopher is like a prisoner who is freed from the cave and comes to understand that the shadows on the wall are not reality at all for he can perceive the true form of reality rather than the manufactured reality that is the shadows seen by the prisoners the inmates of this place do not even desire to leave their prison for they know no better life socrates remarks that this allegory can be paired with previous writings namely the analogy of the sun and the analogy of the divided line plato begins by having socrates ask glaucon to imagine a cave where people have been imprisoned from birth these prisoners are chained so that their legs and necks are fixed forcing them to gaze at the wall in front of them and not look around at the cave each other or themselves 514a b behind the prisoners is a fire and between the fire and the prisoners is a raised walkway with a low wall behind which people walk carrying objects or puppets of men and other living things 514b the people walk behind the wall so their bodies do not cast shadows for the prisoners to see but the objects they carry do just as puppet showmen have screens in front of them at which they work their puppets 514a the prisoners cannot see any of what is happening behind them they are only able to see the shadows cast upon the cave wall in front of them the sounds of the people talking echo off the walls and the prisoners believe these sounds come from the shadows 514c socrates suggests that the shadows are reality for the prisoners because they have never seen anything else they do not realize that what they see are shadows of objects in front of a fire much less that these objects are inspired by real things outside the cave 514b 515a plato then supposes that one prisoner is freed this prisoner would look around and see the fire the light would hurt his eyes and make it difficult for him to see the objects casting the shadows if he were told that what he is seeing is real instead of the other version of reality he sees on the wall he would not believe it in his pain plato continues the freed prisoner would turn away and run back to what he is accustomed to that is the shadows of the carried objects he writes it would hurt his eyes and he would escape by turning away to the things which he was able to look at and these he would believe to be clearer than what was being shown to him plato continues suppose that someone should drag him by force up the rough ascent the steep way up and never stop until he could drag him out into the light of the sun the prisoner would be angry and in pain and this would only worsen when the radiant light of the sun overwhelms his eyes and blinds him slowly his eyes adjust to the light of the sun first he can only see shadows gradually he can see the reflections of people and things in water and then later see the people and things themselves eventually he is able to look at the stars and moon at night until finally he can look upon the sun itself 516a allegory of the cave plato the allegory of the cave was presented by the greek philosopher plato in his work the republic to compare the effect of education and the lack of it on our nature it is written as a dialogue between plato's brother glaucon and his mentor socrates narrated by the latter the allegory is presented after the analogy of the sun and the analogy of the divided line all three are characterized in relation to dialectic at the end of books vii and viii plato has socrates describe a gathering of people who have lived chained to the wall of a cave all of their lives facing a blank wall the people watch shadows projected on the wall from things passing in front of a fire behind them and they begin to give names to these shadows the shadows are as close as the prisoners get to viewing reality he then explains how the philosopher is like a prisoner who is freed from the cave and comes to understand that the shadows on the wall do not make up reality at all for he can perceive the true form of reality rather than the mere shadows seen by the prisoners socrates remarks that this allegory can be taken with what was said before namely the analogy of the sun and the analogy of the divided line in particular he likens our perception of the world around us to the habitation in prison the firelight there to the sunlight here the ascent and the view of the upper world to the rising of the soul into the world of the mind the allegory of the cave or plato's cave was presented by the greek philosopher plato in his work republic 514a 520a to compare the effect of education and the lack of it on our nature it is written as a dialogue between plato's brother glaucon and his mentor socrates narrated by the latter the allegory is presented after the analogy of the sun 508b 509c and the analogy of the divided line 509d 511e all three are characterized in relation to dialectic at the end of books vii and viii 531d 534e plato has socrates describe a group of people who have lived chained to the wall of a cave all of their lives facing a blank wall the people watch shadows projected on the wall from objects passing in front of a fire behind them and give names to these shadows the shadows are the prisoners reality socrates explains how the philosopher is like a prisoner who is freed from the cave and comes to understand that the shadows on the wall are not reality at all for he can perceive the true form of reality rather than the manufactured reality that is the shadows seen by the prisoners the inmates of this place do not even desire to leave their prison for they know no better life the prisoners manage to break their bonds one day and discover that their reality was not what they thought it was they discovered the sun which plato uses as an analogy for the fire that man cannot see behind like the fire that cast light on the walls of the cave the human condition is forever bound to the impressions that are received through the senses even if these interpretations or in kantian terminology intuitions are an absurd misrepresentation of reality we cannot somehow break free from the bonds of our human condition we cannot free ourselves from phenomenal state just as the prisoners could not free themselves from their chains if however we were to miraculously escape our bondage we would find a world that we could not understand the sun is incomprehensible for someone who has never seen it in other words we would encounter another realm a place incomprehensible because theoretically it is the source of a higher reality than the one we have always known it is the realm of pure form pure fact socrates remarks that this allegory can be paired with previous writings namely the analogy of the sun and the analogy of the divided line

elizabeth m deloughrey traces how indigenous and postcolonial peoples in the caribbean and pacific islands grapple with the enormity of colonialism and anthropogenic climate change through art poetry and literature by using allegorical narratives the allegory of the cave was presented by plato in republic to compare the effect of education and the lack of it on our nature it is written as a dialogue between plato's brother glaucon and his mentor socrates narrated by the latter the allegory is presented after the analogy of the sun and the analogy of the divided line the allegory of the cave is often used metaphorically to depict the effects education has on one's soul
