the adoption of the declaration on the rights of indigenous peoples by the united nations general assembly on 13 september 2007 was acclaimed as a major success for the united nations system given the extent to which it consolidates and develops the international corpus of indigenous rights this is the first in depth academic analysis of this far reaching instrument indigenous representatives have argued that the rights contained in the declaration and the processes by which it was formulated obligate affected states to accept the validity of its provisions and its interpretation of contested concepts such as culture land ownership and self determination this edited collection contains essays written by the main protagonists in the development of the declaration indigenous representatives and field leading academics it offers a comprehensive institutional thematic and regional analysis of the declaration in particular it explores the declaration s normative resonance for international law and considers the ways in which this international instrument could catalyse institutional action and influence the development of national laws and policies on indigenous issues this book addresses one of the most controversial questions in contemporary human rights law how can persons with severe cognitive disabilities make their own decisions historically vulnerable persons have been considered incapable and guardians were appointed to represent their interests which has led to serious abuses the convention on the rights of persons with disabilities crpd adopted in 2006 requires that they receive support to make their own decisions however governments claim it is impossible to fully implement this international requirement this book tackles the issue of decision making from both a legal and theoretical perspective it explores how supported decision making could incorporate safeguards to protect the vital interests of vulnerable persons in order to present a viable legal alternative to guardianship it accepts that some persons abilities are very limited but contends that guardianship is not the appropriate response even in such cases instead the book presents a unique modified support framework which can incorporate all persons with disabilities fulfilling the goals of the crpd
