the quest to escape authority has been a persistent feature of the modern world animating liberals and marxists westerners and non westerners alike yet what if it turns out that authority is intrinsic to humanity what if authority is characteristic of everything we are and do as those created in god s image even when we claim to be free of it what if kings and commoners teachers and students employers and employees all possess authority this book argues that authority cannot be identified with mere power is not to be played off against freedom and is not a mere social construction rather it is resident in an office given us by god himself at creation this central office is in turn dispersed into a variety of offices relevant to our different life activities in a wide array of communal settings far from being a conservative bromide the call to respect authority is foundational to respect for humanity itself the climate crisis is humanmade its main cause is the burning of fossil fuels to combat climate change we have to understand how we arrived at where we are this book explores the reasons why human societies have embarked on the trajectory of ever increasing use of fossil fuels population growth desire for freedom from want and profit seeking all played major roles in shaping human history but there has been no inevitable drive towards heating up the atmosphere in the pursuit of social objectives to sustain a growing population more natural resources are required but their use does not need to generate climate change no logic of modernity links freedom with a kind of material abundance that requires the burning of fossil fuels no logic of capital necessarily ties the search for profit to the extraction of fossil resources examining the critical junctures in human history when resource regimes changed this book identifies the social problems that were meant to be solved by burning fossil fuels and the power hierarchies that shaped the decisions to use them wagner argues that the key choices that led to the climate emergency were made relatively recently during the second half of the 20th century they are close enough in time for us to undo the prevailing social logic of fossil fuels by redefining the key problems that humankind is facing and reshaping the existing mechanisms of power we can take the decisive action needed to reduce our dependence on fossil fuels and avert the worst consequences of climate change
