by b landheer the grotius seminarium has as its purpose the study of international problems under the aspect of living and cooperating in one world its conference of may 30 june 2 i96i on limits and problems of european integration attempted to view european integration within the framework of this general goal as is somewhat implied in its title the limits of european integration lie in the necessity of fitting it in the wider framework of international cooperation while its problems lie in the various interpretations and concretizations of its own goals ab out which there are a number of different viewpoints it could be stated that the european is faced with three sets of problems the creation of a more unified world as a global problem the regional integration of europe and thirdly the continuation of more strictly national interests it is not justified to assume that these three circles of interest are automatically complementary they are often antagonistic and a philosophy of integration would have to arrive at a structural presentation of those various values and of their interrelatedness while it is obviously not possible for a small conference to give those problems their full weight it is nevertheless hoped that the essays combined in this volume raise a number of relevant questions and contribute to the elaboration of some more concrete problems the period since 1945 has seen political events and socio economic developments of enormous significance for the human race this series explores these developments the eec itself and in the world beyond is growing moreover the concept of a wider europe has become a significant political factor in the postwar world derek urwin traces the movement towards political and economic integration in western europe from the calls for a federal europe that were made by the european resistance movements and their immediate postwar successors through to the demands that are now heard for complete monetary and partial political union examines the history of the european community after 1957 the main objective of this publication is establishing an understanding of the process of european integration and hence the current european union that has resulted from this process as this is a complicated development that includes many different areas this book will focus on the main fields in which the integration has been settled politics economy law and social aspects thus a comprehensive approach to all these fields will provide both general and professional readers with sufficient knowledge to understand the process and form their own opinion about it each chapter has been developed independently and hence can be read autonomously in order to understand a specific topic policy or problem in the european union reading of the full book will provide a wide perspective of the process as the chapters are connected forming different groups based on similar themes the combination of these wider groups providing the general approach to the whole process of european integration the european union is going through the process of a second founding while simultaneously changing its rationale the original founding of european integration in 1957 was based on the notion of internal reconciliation among european states and societies since the 1990s european integration has increasingly become a political project with implications for the internal structure of its member states and their societies at the same time with the end of the cold war the rationale of european integration has begun to change european integration is about a new global role of europe its contribution to the management of global affairs and its ability to cope with the effects of globalization on europe inside the eu the second founding is about a new contract between political elites and the people of europe in order to solidify legitimacy and effectiveness for this unique experiment in european history this revised second edition which is a broadly structured study of the first 50 years on european integration takes into account the ratification of the treaty of lisbon that came into effect on december 1 2009 this new edition of the leading reader on european integration makes conveniently available to students the key texts of politicians and scholars the first section presents the visions of the primary shapers of the union now including the reflections of current european leaders on a constitution for europe the second section brings together the classics of eu studies as scholars struggled to apply the contending approaches of federalism functionalism neofunctionalism and intergovernmentalism to understand postwar european integration the third comprehensively revised and updated section explores recent theoretical developments in scholarship the authors seek to convey the richness of the debate the sense of triumph and despair and the success and failures which have marked efforts to unite europe comprises 14 papers provides essentially a political and social analysis of the changes that have brought into being the european union and that will affect its future the foundation of the european union was one of the most important historical events in the second half of the 20th century in order to fully appreciate the modern state of the eu it is crucial to understand the history of european integration this accessible overview differs from other studies in its focus on the major roles played by both the united states and european multinational corporations in the development of the european union chronologically written and drawing on new findings from two major archives the archives of the us state department and archive of european integration this book sheds crucial new light on the integration process the history of european integration offers a major contribution to our understanding of europe s postwar history and will be essential reading for any student of postwar european history contemporary history european politics and european studies
