gives a broad insight into hertzberger's library and a stimulating impression of one of the most important dutch architects alive today rather than supplying the reader with design recipes hertzberger has provided an essential source of inspiration to everyone involved with the design process the municipality of apeldoorn wanted to house a couple of cultural institutions which were formerly spread around the city the van reekummuseum with a collection of modern graphics the historic museum the city archives and an extension of the adjacent city library hertzberger created a new space in which people come together to look at art go to the theatre engage in conversation or simply hang around by the railing just like he did for his extension of the schouwburg hertzberger uses an austere box made out of glass as a base this book complements lessons for students in architecture published in 1991 it charts the background to hertzberger's work of the last ten years and the ideas informing it drawing on a wide spectrum of subjects and designs by artists precursors past masters and colleagues challenges of sustainability and transition need innovative tools for the understanding mapping designing and governing of manmade sites and territories complementary to standard land use categories such as housing and agriculture this book of essays introduces eleven interface categories labels for land use interactions transitions mixes and spatial and temporal positions in between authors from different disciplines describe and illustrate how this set of interfaces resonates with their own projects challenges and agendas and how it sheds light on new land use agents on unregistered forms of land occupation and on opportunities for socio economic and ecosystem services the concept of interfaces encourages the development of adapted modes of planning and management for urban rural or natural environments and on different spatial scales
