this volume looks at how courts and the police handle racial discrimination in europe the chapters show that beyond legal technique neither the legislators nor the judges escape from their own emotions when responding to racial discrimination but as the authors point out emotions are not always negative they can also help in a positive way in judicial interpretation the study profiles five countries germany uk estonia portugal and spain each of these belong both to the european union and to the council of europe coverage examines the responsibility of the public powers more specifically of the legislative and judicial power both of the police and of the judiciary in persecuting racist behavior in addition the authors also consider the increase in racism in groups of citizens the authors argue that racial justice is a proactive reinforcement of policies practices attitudes and actions that lead to equal access to opportunities for all after reading this book readers will gain a better understanding of the reasoning of legislators police and judges when dealing with racial discrimination in europe today designed to integrate the outcomes based curriculum this is a collection of short modern plays aimed at junior secondary students it offers a range of multi and cross cultural dramas mostly african in origin for both english and drama teachers and students this book offers a unique interpretation of tragic literature in the western tradition deploying the method and style of analytic philosophy richard gaskin argues that tragic literature seeks to offer moral and linguistic redress compensation for suffering moral redress involves the balancing of a protagonist s suffering with guilt and vice versa gaskin contends that to a much greater extent than has been recognized by recent critics traditional tragedy represents suffering as incurred by avoidable and culpable mistakes of a cognitive nature moral redress operates in the first instance at the level of the individual agent linguistic redress by contrast operates at a higher level of generality namely at the level of the community its fundamental motor is the sheer expressibility of suffering in words against many writers on tragedy gaskin argues that language is competent to express pain and suffering and that tragic literature has that expression as one its principal purposes the definition of tragic literature in this book is expanded to include more than stage drama the treatment stretches from the classical and medieval periods through to the early twentieth century there is a special focus on sophocles but gaskin takes account of most other major tragic authors in the european tradition including homer aeschylus euripides virgil seneca chaucer marlowe shakespeare corneille racine lessing goethe schiller kleist büchner ibsen hardy kafka and mann lesser known areas such as renaissance neo latin tragedy are also covered among theorists of tragedy gaskin concentrates on aristotle and bradley but the contributions of numerous contemporary commentators are also assessed tragedy and redress in western literature a philosophical perspective offers a new and genuinely interdisciplinary perspective on tragedy that will be of considerable interest both to philosophers of literature and to literary critics
