this authoritative handbook looks at the entire news cycle and provides a bridge between the theoretical and academic study of journalism and its actual contemporary practice the book's main merit is that it brings theory and practice together with contributors discussing these issues from different perspectives in a way that scholars students and practitioners can find useful in the study of journalism the handbook is also unique as it undertakes an international scope across regions and cultures both from the west and the global south while providing an overview which balances the over emphasis on content in most academic approaches to journalism the book is divided into four major parts 1 conceptual foundations 2 interlink between journalism as scholarship and journalism as practice 3 regions and cultures and 4 the practitioner world the first two sections lay down the foundation for section 3 which provides an overview of journalism practice in different regions and cultures section 4 includes contributions by practitioners in which they attempt to respond to some of the issues raised in preceding sections this handbook will appeal to academics practitioners and professionals alike who are interested in a better understanding of the academic study of journalism and its actual contemporary practice
