tibet s philosophical tradition is on brilliant display in this anthology of works exploring the means to finding certainty in an impermanent and interdependent world here descendants of the great tsongkhapa plumb the nature of knowing to harness it in the service of awakening this volume includes translations of three separate tibetan works by iconic figures in the geluk school of buddhism the first work banisher of ignorance is by khedrup gelek palsang 1385 1438 and the second on preclusion and relationship is by gyaltsab darma rinchen 1364 1432 the authors popularly known as khedrup je and gyaltsab je were the foremost disciples of the geluk school founder tsongkhapa losang drakpa 1357 1419 the third text mighty pramana sun is a commentary on the first chapter of candrakirti s clear words prasannapada by jamyang shepa 1648 1721 these works concern themselves primarily with the buddhist theory of knowledge the means by which we are able to know things and how we can be certain of that knowledge encapsulating this theory is the notion of pramana the buddhist understanding of which was shaped most significantly by the indian masters dignaga fifth to sixth century and dharmakirti seventh century based on their explanation pramana is often translated as valid cognition a literal reference to the kind of cognition that they proposed could be relied upon to supply indisputable knowledge in the buddhist pramana tradition rigorous reasoning is held to play a crucial role in gaining such knowledge and there is no better exemplar of the sophistication this endeavor achieved in tibet than khedrup je s work here he systematically catalogs and rebuts a host of views with unmatched acumen and flair all three works illustrate how those who follow the tradition have viewed the systematic approach as necessary not only for textual analysis for those seeking to unravel the complexities of the indian buddhist scriptures and treatises but also for practitioners aiming to progress along the spiritual path and achieve the highest buddhist goals the process of modernization has brought discontinuities in collective memory this volume and its prequel provide an act of collective remembrance knitting together many voices and stories it shows the readers a world of the past before modernization began in the 1960s volume 2 covers the monumental architecture of dzongs castles and administration country authority and power cosmological concepts and beliefs religions and rites visualization and meditation visual arts and folk drama that affected the daily life of the people some chapters also dwell on monastic life and monkhood and guru rinpoche s imprints on the land and its people this book presents the first collection of essays on the philosophy of ueda shizuteru in a western language ueda the last living member of the kyoto school has fostered the east west dialogue in all his works and has helped to open up the western image of philosophy by engaging the zen tradition the book reflects this particular trait of ueda s philosophy but it also covers all thematic fields of his writings contributions from both young and established scholars and experts from japan europe and the u s make this a unique introduction to and reception of ueda s philosophy readers will discover discussions of mysticism in the east and west and consideration of modern philosophy topics including self awareness nature and poetic language the book also presents a focussed look at language and nothingness considering silence and nihilism chapters allow the reader to understand the timeliness of a thinking that mediates and transcends the dichotomy of east and west this volume will appeal not only to scholars of nishida japanese philosophy mysticism and religious experience in japan but also to scholars of western philosophy especially those interested in meister eckhart martin heidegger and martin buber it makes an ideal introduction to zen philosophy and presents important contributions to scholarship on language and experience crossing the stream leaving the cave brings philosophers from two of the world s great philosophical traditions platonic and indian buddhist into joint inquiry on topics in metaphysics epistemology mind language and ethics an international team of scholars address selected questions of mutual concern to buddhist and platonist how can knowledge of reality transform us will such transformation leave us speechless or disinterested in the world around us what is cause what is self knowledge and how can dreams shed light on waking cognition what do the paradoxes thrown up by abstract thought about fundamental notions such as being and unity reveal is it possible to attain unity in ourselves and should we even try would doing so make us happy and is such happiness consistent with both contemplation of reality and action in the world with close readings of texts by buddhaghosa nagarjuna vasubandhu dignaga bhaviveka santideva by plato plotinus porphyry olympiodorus and damascius among others these studies consider not just the different answers buddhists and platonists might give to these questions but also the criticisms they might bring to each other's positions the sort of arguments they use and the use they put these arguments to bringing platonic and the buddhist perspectives jointly to bear creates a cosmopolitan philosophical exchange which yields greater conceptual clarity on the questions and the terms in which they are cast reveals unnoticed conceptual connections and opens up new possibilities for addressing central philosophical concerns text with english translation on the basic tenets of the madhyamika school in buddhist philosophy in the history of the indian grammatical tradition bhartṛhari about fifth century c e fourth great grammarian after pāṇini kṛtyāyana and patañjali and the first to make the philosophical aspects of language and grammar the main subject of an independent work this work the vākyapadīya vp consists of about 2000 philosophical couplets or kōrikās since the latter half of the nineteenth century the vp has been known to western sanskritists but its language philosophical contents have started to receive serious attention only in the last few decennia the subject matter of the vp resonates strongly with crucial themes in twentieth century western thought although the background and the way the issues are elaborated are quite different scholars have compared and contrasted bhartṛhari's ideas with those of de saussure wittgenstein and derrida a theme which as a leitmotiv pervades the entire vp is the relation between language thought and reality in several indian traditions a proper insight into this relation was and still is held to be of importance for attaining liberation
