success is difficult to define it is a state of being and a state of action it is complicated to say that we have succeeded because it is not something fixed but something that does not stop it is when we carry out actions on objectives and that these objectives are reached we can say that there is success this success will be punctual and can be constantly questioned because it will always remain relative it is the feeling that one has of being satisfied by achievements to succeed it is important to condition yourself indeed there is no success without conditioning this conditioning is an important mental work it is also repetitions of positive actions through habits we don't succeed by chance it only works on a combination of circumstances but it doesn't go any further to succeed it is therefore necessary to set up a substantive work which allows to go to the end of what we undertake the problem is that in success if you let yourself be guided by motivation desires and only passions you do not necessarily succeed for the simple reason is good that these are not regular parameters to achieve important goals you need consistency the motivation remains too irregular and even with motivation it is difficult to succeed for lack of structured thinking mental conditioning will therefore focus on controlling what you think when you are in difficulties you will have automatic mental keys to get out of these difficulties when it is necessary to act on the objectives you will go towards the good actions because the mind will be positively conditioned in this book we will see why success is important in life then we will see the importance of the morning to have direct results during the day we will discuss the power of habits a key element in the structure of the day so that we no longer depend on lack of energy or lack of motivation we will define the mental map of success that is to say the key points of mental conditioning for success we will study the discomfort and how we can use the difficulties so that it is no longer a problem but a springboard finally we will see mental routines with concrete examples
