successful presidential leadership depends upon words as well as deeds in this multifaceted look at rhetorical leadership twelve leading scholars in three different disciplines provide in depth studies of how words have served or disserved american presidents at the heart of rhetorical leadership lies the classical concept of prudence practical wisdom that combines good sense with good character from their disparate treatments of a range of presidencies an underlying agreement emerges among the historians political scientists and communication scholars included in the volume to be effective they find presidents must be able to articulate the common good in a particular situation and they must be credible on the basis of their own character who they are and what they can do are thus twin pillars of successful rhetorical leadership leroy g dorsey introduces these themes and david zarefsky picks them up in looking at the historical development of rhetorical leadership within the office of the presidency each succeeding chapter then examines the rhetorical leadership of a particular president often within the context of a specific incident or challenge that marked his term in office chapters dealing with george washington john adams thomas jefferson theodore roosevelt woodrow wilson franklin roosevelt dwight eisenhower ronald reagan and bill clinton offer the specifics for a clearer understanding of how rhetoric serves leadership in the american presidency this book provides an indispensable addition to the literature on the presidency and in leadership studies fulton j sheen norman vincent peale and billy graham were america s most popular religious leaders during the mid twentieth century period known as the golden years of the age of extremes it was part of an era that encompassed polemic contrasts of good and evil on the world stage in political philosophies and international relations the 1950s and early 1960s in particular were years of high anxiety competing ideologies and hero villain mania in america sheen was the voice of reason who spoke against those conflicting ideologies which were hostile to religious faith and democracy peale preached the gospel of reassurance self assurance and success despite ominous global threats and graham was the heroic model of faith whose message of conversion provided americans an identity and direction opposite to atheistic communism this study looks at how and why their rhetorical leadership both separately and together contributed to the climate of an extreme era and influenced a national religious revival
