institutionalization of islamic law before and after malaysian independence on implementation of islamic economic system in malaysia the suharto 1966 98 government of indonesia and the mahathir 1981 2003 government of malaysia both launched islamisation programmes upgrading and creating religious institutions the author argues that while generally ulamas or religious teachers had to support state ideologies they sometimes succeeded in capturing the state by influencing policies in their favour the author builds his argument on strong fieldwork data especially interviews and he engages in critical discussion of comparative politics paradigms and the concept of capture despite their close geographic and cultural ties indonesia and malaysia have dramatically different islamic education with that in indonesia being relatively decentralized and discursively diverse while that in malaysia is centralized and discursively restricted the book explores the nature of the islamic education systems in indonesia and malaysia and the different approaches taken by these states in managing these systems the book argues that the post colonial state in malaysia has been more successful in centralising its control over islamic education and more concerned with promoting a restrictive orthodoxy compared to the post colonial state in indonesia this is due to three factors the ideological makeup of the state institutions that oversee islamic education patterns of societal islamisation that have prompted different responses from the states and control of resources by the central government that influences centre periphery relations informed by the theoretical works of state in society relations and historical institutionalism this book shows that the three aforementioned factors can help a state to minimize influence from the society and exert its dominance in this case by centralising control over islamic education specifically they help us understand the markedly different landscapes of islamic education in malaysia and indonesia it will be of interest to academics in the field of southeast asian studies asian education and comparative education history of muslim in malaysia this handbook explores the ways in which islam as one of the fastest growing religions has become a global faith for both muslims and non muslims in southeast asia with its universality inclusivity and shared features with other islamic expressions and manifestations it offers an up to date wide ranging comprehensive concise and readable introduction to the field of islam in southeast asia with specific themes of pertinent contemporary relevance the contributions by experts in the field provide fresh insights into the roles of states societies scholars social movements political parties economic institutions sacred sites and other forces that structured the faith over many centuries the handbook is structured in three parts muslim global circulations marginal narratives refashioning pieties this handbook stands out as a single and synergistic reference work that explores the ebb and flow of islam seeking to decenter many existing assumptions about it in southeast asia it will be an indispensable resource for scholars students and policymakers working on islam muslims and their interactions with other communities in a plural setting this book draws on elements of critical social theory research on globalization neo liberalism and education and malaysian studies to understand the interplay of globalization nationalism cultural politics and ethnicized neoliberalism in shaping the educational reforms in malaysia using the malaysia education blueprint 2013 2025 meb as a case study a catalyst and a context this collection critically explores some of the complex historical and contemporary push pull politics and factors shaping malaysia s education system its reform and the experience of malaysians and others within it the authors in this volume focus on the interplay of neoliberalism nationalism ethnic and cultural politics in shaping the educational reforms in malaysia their work captures and seeks to understand the enduring though changing hierarchy of access and differentiated rights to educational social and economic resources and opportunities experienced by different individuals and collectives including those involved in the neoliberal enterprise of international education it looks at how inequities have been re configured in different educational spaces in malaysia and at how these inequities have been addressed through reform policies and practices the book will be a shaper and critical contributor to the assessment of the malaysian education blueprint and related policies it will also have wider relevance globally as a critical approach to policy discussion islamic law influences the lives of muslims today as aspects of the law are applied as part of state law in different forms in many areas of the world this volume provides a much needed collection of articles that explore the complexities involved in the application of islamic law within the contemporary legal systems of different countries today with particular reference to saudi arabia morocco indonesia nigeria turkey malaysia and pakistan the articles identify the relevant areas of difficulties and also propose possible ways of realising a more effective and equitable application of islamic law in the contemporary world the volume features an introductory overview of the subject as well as a comprehensive bibliography to aid further research
